Theodore Saunders Cafe
317 N. Main
Bel Air
Private

Even today this building with the deep bracketed cornice shows its origin as a storefront. Barber Theodore Saunders built it in 1888 and opened a cafe there. He advertized a "ladies entrance", the first such mention of that genteel invention. The site should have been a good one, it was scarcely a block from the railroad station and right around the corner from Broadway, but the cafe did not prosper. Perhaps even the "ladies entrance" could not disguise an unsavory reputation. Saunders went back to barbering on Main Street near the Courthouse and shortly thereafter was up before the court for running a speakeasy. In 1904 the north half of the store had a grocery store in it.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This four bay, two story, flat roofed double storefront altered to residential uses is at 317 N. Main Street in the Town of Bel Air, Harford County, Maryland. It was originally one store, but by 1904 it had been divided in two. It has decorative cornices supported on carved brackets between the first and second stories and atop the little false front. Windows are 2/2 except in front where they are 1/1. They are in regular flat wooden surrounds except for those on the second story front. Those surrounds are slightly pointed at top. A pair of windows in the first story shows where the shop windows used to be. Between the two entrances in the center bay front (west) is a larger bracket to the cornice. These doors are single pane over three panel. Another pair of doors on the south elevation is shaded by a hipped roof porch on slender doric columns. The back of the building shows irregular additions, a wooden staircase to a second story hooded doorway in the second bay from the south. Next to that to the north is a shed roof single story with a second story room on top. The shed roofed portion was a single story porch in 1904. Behind this is a shed roofed porch.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT ~~XXXXXXXX~~ John F. Lingan

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This double building was built in 1888 by contractor John F. Lingan for Theodore Saunders at a cost of around $1200. Saunders was a barber; in 1874 he had his shop at the corner of Office and Bond Streets. In 1876 he opened a restaurant next door. In 1888 he bought this lot near the railroad station from Charles L. Dallam for $800 (62/227). According to the Harford Democrat for June 22, 1888, he planned to have an ice cream parlor in the summer and an oyster bar in the winter, but by the time the building was finished in December it was a cafe with a ladies' entrance, the first in Town, probably the side porch. The building probably was single-fronted. In 1889 John F. Lingan sued for the $1093.32 due him (equity 60/437), and by 1897 the property was sold to Georgianna Jones and Lydia E. Bauer for $1850 (91/88). It is not clear what happened; this is a good location near the railroad station and the residential districts of Broadway and Rock Spring. Perhaps the ladies did not fancy Saunders' cafe, and the location is too far from the Courthouse to attract that crowd. In 1903 the owners sold to David Hanway and Harry S. Carver (109/121). By 1904 the building had been divided in two. The north portion housed a grocery store. The south portion was vacant.

In 1909 Hanway sold his share to Carver (127/122). He received $200 and Carver assumed the $1100 mortgage. Two months later he sold it to John Evans (127/161), who sold it two months later to Frederick J. Gorrell (127/298). In 1912, his wife dead, Gorrell sold the property to his daughter-in-law Lenora (Leonora) (139/186). She assumed the $1500 mortgage. Mrs. Gorrell died in 1964 and left the property to Florence E. Ward (will 35/382) who is the present owner (by 1052/766).

The house has obviously been altered from a double storefront by enclosing the shop windows. It is now divided into three apartments.
